I can make links between events and changes from the Victorian era and WW2.

This is our final lesson on Victorian history. Today, I want you to basically show what you know. You have to try to make similarities and differences between what you know about WW2 and The Victorians.

What were the main events in WW2?

What were the main events in The Victorian period?

What links can you think of?

Example:

During WW2, there was a mass effort to produce as many weapons and tanks as possible for the men fighting abroad. This meant that many women had to take on the roles that the men did, so many women worked in munitions factories. They often worked long hours and with some rather dangerous equipment e.g. explosives. This is similar to The Victorian era, because The Industrial Revolution transformed the lives of many and so people had to work in busy factories for extremely long hours. Some workers (even children) had awful accidents whilst working with really dangerous equipment. However, one different was ...
