I can describe the schools in Uganda.

Uganda

Where is it?

What is it like?

Location Map of Uganda in World

The empty, derelict building stood eerily in the barren landscape. As the wind blew, the dust poured through the holes in the walls (glass was too expensive). The reeds on the thatched roof offered little protection against the extreme weather, instead it provided a small amount of shade to escape the eternal burning sun. Inside the mud-built structure were no shiny desks, comfortable plastic chairs or piles of colourful exercise books, instead there was a worn chalkboard propped up at the front of the class surrounded by a few meager rows of wooden benches.
