I can compare needs and wants.

Think about what you want for your next birthday.

E.g. New computer games, new trainers.

How is a 'want' different to a 'need'?

Think about what you need to survive - e.g. food, a roof over your head etc.

Write 5 items that are your 'wants'.

Write 5 items that are your 'needs'.

For each item explain why you want or need it.

Can something be a need and a want?

Example: A new car would be a 'want' for most people, as they might already have one. They might also be able to walk to local places and catch the bus or train for other journeys.

It could be a 'need' for someone who lives in the middle of the countryside where there is no public transport, they might need a car to get to work and to buy their groceries.

Can you think of three other items that could be both wants and needs depending on the situation. Explain why each item could be a want or a need.
