

The Mystery

When Alice returned home, she realised her front door was left ajar. Gingerly, she peered into the room and discovered that her furniture was laid on the floor - she had been burgled. In the distance, she could hear a ringing noise. It was a mobile phone that was on the kitchen table, but it wasn't hers. Without thinking, she answered it. The voice said, "Alice, I know your secret..." then it went silent.

[illegible]