

Writing tasks - Who Let The Gods Out?

Task 1 - SPAG

Tick to show the type of pronoun underlined in each sentence.

	Personal pronoun	Relative pronoun	Possessive pronoun
He shouted across the headmaster's office.
The office was his .
Mr Boil, who was dripping in sweat, stormed into the room.

Highlight all of the pronouns in the sentences below.

Boil was the only person that Elliot knew who had fat eyes.	Elliot scratched his head.
A shout at the other side of the door made the headmaster fall out of his chair.	He could imagine the appeals on the television.
He disgraced the Brysmore name.	Mr Sopweed sighed whilst flicking his floppy fringe.
But as soon as the thought formed in his head, he crushed it.	"I'll tell you what he needs to know!"
Elliot's heart sank when he thought of his exams.	His grades had dropped across the board for all subjects.

Tick one box in each sentence to show which part is a relative clause.

Mr Boil, who was a rather large man, burst into the headmaster's office.

Task 2, 3 and 4- Comic strip

Create a compic strip of the first chapter of 'Who Let The Gods Out?'

Read through the 'Features of a comic strip' information to help you create a compic strip for the first chapter of 'Who Let the Gods Out?'

Take your time over this. I have attched a template to help you (you can print off as many of these as you need for your comic strip) or you can create your own.

- Think about the main events - each of these should become a section of your comic strip.
- What do the characters say? Use speech bubbles to show what the characters say.
- What are the characters thinking? You should include thought clouds to show this.
- How are your characters speaking?
- A short explanation should be included at the bottom of each of your illustrations.
- What do the characters look like? Use the text to help you decide how the characters look.
- Challenge
