Hello Terrific Tigers,

Activities for the week beginning 15th June

This week, Mr Mac at the Oak National Academy needs your help to finish writing an adventure story. He's got some fantastic ideas (to be honest I think he's my favourite Oak teacher!). Check out the Week 6 Literacy lessons and see what the crazy teacher is up to - <https://classroom.thenational.academy/schedule-by-year/year-3/>

In Numeracy, I would like you to look at the Week 7 lessons on the Oak National Academy - <https://classroom.thenational.academy/schedule-by-year/year-3/>
This week starts looking at multiplying by 10 and 100 and then moves on to look at the reading of scales. You could do some baking and measure out ingredients to further support this learning. I've already been sent some pictures of the fantastic cakes you've made. Feeling very upset that I haven't been able to taste any of them because you know how much I like cake!

I have attached the next chapters in the book that you are reading (Our Teachers are Superheroes) and some questions for you to answer. If you want to read the book on line you can find it at Parents - I have found the mark scheme for this and included the answers.

It's time to start a new topic in Science. Over the next few weeks we are going to be looking at sound - how it is made and how we hear. Please have a go at the Oak National Academy lesson in Week 7 -

As I'm missing you all so much, it would be really nice if you sent me some videos of you playing tunes on your elastic bands. I'm also attaching some video links showing another fun way in which you can see the vibrations made by sound. Perhaps you could have a go yourself but please make sure that you ask an adult first as you will need their help and also please be understanding if they say that it's not practical for you to do it.

You might be able to think of or research some other ways to show the vibrations. Send me your videos.

I know from the messages that you have sent me that you have enjoyed the extra challenges that I have been setting you so I've attached another for this week.

I know that it is frustrating not being able to see all your friends but remember, everybody is missing friends and family even your parents and brothers and sisters. This sometimes makes ALL of us grumpy so it is really important that we keep being kind to each other. If you have any tips for how to show people that you care, send them to me on the ClassDojo and I'll share the ideas.
